(1) Shopping on eBay is a great way to buy things. You just need an e-mail address and a credit card. To register for free, just go to the eBay website and click on the "register" link. Fill in and submit the form on your screen. Soon, you will receive an e-mail letting you know that eBay has accepted your registration. After returning to the eBay homepage, you can either search or browse the website to find whatever products you wish to buy. Once you find the item, read its description carefully before you decide to place a bid. Just enter the highest amount of money you are willing to pay. If your bid is the highest, the seller will contact you through e-mail. Once the seller receives your payment, the item will be sent to you. It's as easy as that.

(2) Kissing is found in all cultures. Though it's common, there is a lot of cultural variation. Among the Tapuya of South America only men kiss—it's a sign of peace. In the Philippines, vendors in the market sometimes use a kissing sound to attract customers. In many countries, people kiss as a greeting. While the French and Italians kiss the air next to the cheek, Russians actually kiss the other person's cheek.

Of course, kissing is also for couples. According to research, eight percent of kissers in the United States keep their eyes open, and twenty percent sometimes look. In English, people say "French kiss" to mean a deep, passionate kiss, but the French don't have a special word for this.

Kissing can also be found in art. Two famous examples are Rodin's stature and Klimt's painting, both called "The Kiss". Hollywood has given us kissing scenes in thousands of movies, while in India it's not permitted on the screen. Kissing is everywhere, but when and how depends on culture!

45. What would be a good title for this passage?

- (A) Kissing and Cultures.
- (B) Kissing in Hollywood's Movies.
- (C) Kissing and Art.
- (D) Kissing and Western People.

46. What does kissing mean to the Tapuya of South America?

- (A) The friendship among women
- (B) A symbol of peace
- (C) A sign of brave man
- (D) A mark of love

47. Why do Filipino vendors sometimes make a kissing sound?

- (A) Because they love each other.
- (B) Because they want to express their love.
- (C) Because they like the sound.
- (D) Because they want to attract their customers.

48. What's the difference between the Russian and French greeting kiss?

- (A) The French are more romantic than Russians.
- (B) The French do not really kiss the other person's cheek, but Russians do.
- (C) There is no difference. All of them enjoy "French Kiss".
- (D) Russians are more conservative than the French.

49. In what works of art can we find kissing?

- (A) Rodin's painting and Klimt's stature.
- (B) Hollywood's movies.
- (C) Klimt's painting and Rodin's stature.
- (D) The French people's works.

50. According to the passage, in what country is kissing not permitted in movies?

- (A) France
- (B) Italy
- (C) Philippines
- (D) India
